

FAST COMPANY magazine featured Dr. Mani Sivasubramanian and the activities of his Children Heart Foundation in a recent issue.

FAST COMPANY

UNSUNG HERO

Spamming for Good

From: Issue 108 | September 2006 | Page 43 | By: Josie Swindler

"Every month, 7,000 people receive email newsletters from a guy named Mani Sivasubramanian. Last year, Sivasubramanian took home as much as $25,000 from his online sideline. He donates up to 50% of his online profits to the Children's Heart Foundation, which he created in 2003 to provide heart surgeries to poor Indian children."

Read the complete article - 'Mani Sivasubramanian: *Spamming for Good':
<http://www.fastcompany.com/magazine/108/next-unsung-hero.html>

Details about the Children Heart Foundation may be found at <http://www.CHDinfo.com> and <http://www.HeartKidsBlogathon.info>